DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 6 and 8-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Root (US 4,802,277).

Root discloses creating the secondary rigidity-reducing arrangements (15) by etching (col. 3, lines 55-56) through the substrate (20). Further, Root discloses demarcating at least one receiving zone (Fig. 1) by etching a recess (15) in the substrate (20).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Root (US 4,802,277) in view of Akram et al (US 6,365,967).

Root fails to disclose forming the substrate from an undoped silicon wafer having an insulating layer.

Akram discloses forming the substrate from an undoped silicon wafer having an insulating layer (col. 3, lines 54-63, as well as rest of the patent) thereby forming the electrical connection and mounting electrical components thereon on a cheap and abundant material, as well as easy to work with. Further, its use is old and well known in the art.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Root by forming the substrate from an undoped silicon wafer having an insulating layer, as taught by Akram, for the purpose of forming the electrical connection and mounting electrical components thereon on a cheap and abundant material, as well as easy to work with. Further, its use is old and well known in the art.

5. Claims 2-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Root (US 4,802,277) in view of Hargis (US 4,426,773).

Root fails to disclose forming an electrical terminal in each island-defining portion and electrically connecting the electrical terminal via a track of a circuitry layer to one of the electrical contacts.

Hargis discloses forming an electrical terminal in each island-defining portion and electrically connecting the electrical terminal via a track of a circuitry layer to one of the electrical contacts (Fig. 4) thereby electrically testing all the components mounted thereon.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Root by forming an electrical terminal in each island-defining portion and electrically connecting the electrical terminal via a track of a circuitry layer to one of the electrical contacts, as taught by Hargis, for the purpose of electrically testing all the components mounted thereon.

Response to Arguments

Art Unit: 3729

6. Applicant's arguments filed 11/14/02 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Rigid-reducing arrangements are formed by slots and 13.

In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., by providing the flexibility which reduces the problems which arises from thermal strain) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

Interviews After Final

7. Applicant note that an interview after a final rejection will not be granted unless the intended purpose and content of the interview is presented briefly, in writing (the agenda of the interview must be in writing) to clarify issues for appeal requiring only nominal further consideration. Interviews merely to restate arguments of record or to discuss new limitations will be denied. See MPEP 714.13 and 713.09.

Conclusion

8. Applicants are duly reminded that a full and proper response to this Office Action that includes any amendment to the claims and specification of the application as originally filed requires that the applicant point out the support for any amendment made to the disclosure, including the claims. See 37 CFR 1.111 and MPEP 2163.06.

Art Unit: 3729

9. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
